pers say that Woodrow Wilson is also a squealer.

RSE HENRY declares Woodrow is a er but he don't want him to teach the nocratic editors anything.

JAMES N. KEHOE and Hon. RUFUS are mentioned as the probable dele- gats from the Ninth District to the Demo- cratic National Convention at Baltimore.

THE British budget for the fiscal year 1910- 11, aggregated the great sum of $885,000,000. It is evident that the United States is not the only country where living is high. Over $46, 000,000 of this estimate is for old-age pensions. It is the old-age pensions, and the cry for more eadnoughts, which has produced the finan- crisis, which is at the bottom of present ish political troubles.—San Francisco onicle.

There seems to be no doubt that Colonel HARVEY did his utmost to promote the can- didacy of the former Princeton president or at his work was done in good faith and with- out thought of personal reward. There is no bt that at a recent conference the New Jersey editor asked the New Jersey Governor considered the support of Harper's kly of any assistance in his campaign for Democratic nomination and was informed that it was considered a handicap.

Later he wrote a letter to Colonel HARVEY ch was so worded that the latter might re- as an apology, and which asked for a uance of the personal friendship of the tor.

The Democrats have kept the faith with the temperance people and passed the County Unit Bill, but the whiskey men's faith in the insin- cerity of McCREARY has been fearfully shattered.—Mt. Sterling Gazette.

REPUBLICANS in Washington who desire nothing from the TART administration and who have received nothing from this source, but who keep well informed of their party's affairs, state that in their judgment Presi- dent TART will easily be renominated and re- elected.

February seventh will be the one hundredth anniversary of the birth of CHARLES DICKENS. Preparations are being made in all of the larger cities of the country for elaborate cele- brations of the centennial of the writer who has entranced so many readers with his stories.

A merchant who thinks only of "the cost" of advertising often persuades himself that by advertising on y half as much as usual, he is saving one-half of the expense of advertising. The same logi: would lead him to keep his store open but half the time—thus cutting running expenses in half, and "saving" all that money! The plan of adequate advertising service (for your ads do render a most val- uable service to your patrons) is as essential to store success as the plan of keeping the store open every shopping day!

Foolish Philosophy.

Every business is more or less like the life insurance business—not much comes unless you go after it.

If you want to hear that there is no chastity among women, associate with women who are unhappy outcasts because of lack of it.

I was once seated in front of a Paris cafe eating a lunch. A drunken Frenchman who was passing began abusing me in the most violent manner. Finally the drunken man passed on. "Why did he abuse me?" I asked the guide. "Because you are sober," the guide replied.

Why is it that the simplest moral fact can- not be agreed upon? Thousands of men are tricky, to their own injury, because of the false statement, constantly heard, that if a man hopes to succeed he must be a thief; which is as palpably untrue as that a man may get along better with one arm than with two.

On Sunday a woman tries to let the regular dinner hour slip by, thinking her husband won't notice it when he is not doing anything. But that's the time he is particularly apt to notice it.

Don't let your admirers worry as to whether you can come back; don't go away.

Children always enjoy a joke on their par- ents.

A "story" often has an insignificant start, and becomes big by reason of inventions added to it. The story that Francis Bacon wrote Shakespeare's plays was started by a country town woman named Delia Bacon, who claimed to be related to the noted man of that name and that her "Uncle Francis" wrote "Hamlet," advertised for performance in the town hall.

Actors talk a great deal of their "make-up." I've never seen a make-up on the stage or else- where that wasn't disagreeable and unnatural. —Ed Howe.

"And your husband gave $50,000 for that old book?"
"Yes," lied Mrs. Cumrox.
"To show how much you care for literature, I sup- pose?"
"No. To show how little we care for $50,000."

Happily Married

Many Nice Little Things for Wife to Study

By ANNA T. PERKINS

NO WOMAN should permit herself to become too familiar with her husband. Always make him respect you. If he does you a kindness, thank him; if you meet him on the street, speak to him as politely as you would to a stranger. Never tag around after him and give him the impression that you are watching him; a man dislikes to be hanging on a woman's apron strings. Don't expect him to do your housework for you, and don't scold.

Never be anxious for him to tell you where he has been if he is twenty minutes late to his meals; eat your lunch and let him have what is left.

And, sisters, don't cry for every cross word. Just get the forgetting habit; forget to hear.

I read up funny stories, war news, everything in general I know he likes to hear, and he doesn't go to the saloon for news, for I try to keep right up to date. I am not beautiful, nor finely educated, nor a musician, but I am a good cook and can do sewing very neatly. His clothes are always clean, his meals always ready, and I am sure my husband loves me. I have been married eight years.

What do I most admire about him? It is just this: He never talks unkindly of anyone and he never scolds.

I was always a good talker, but I have learned that to keep your mouth shut up tight when you see he is cross is the great secret of happiness.

My husband is very proud and likes to look nice. I do admire neat- ness in a man.

Now, I have seen that married life surely has its ups and downs. But a woman causes all her own troubles, generally.

Try to save and remember that that money is yours and his together. Never get the habit of running to him for money. Tell him about how much you want on pay day and make it do. Always be sure you ask for plenty; then if you have any left over put it away.

If you must talk, don't gossip, but talk over business matters or some pleasant thing.

My husband does not like to go out in the eve- nings, but if I want to go I dress up the children and go. Don't ask if you can; tell him nicely you are going.

Be independent, but don't show off about it; and learn to listen to his ideas. If you disagree with him, do not say so unless he asks for your opinion.

Don't tell him every silly thing, what you buy and what you do, unless he asks you. Learn that the greatest secret of happiness is silence. Flatter him, make him think he is just the thing.

A man is very much like a child. Be firm and kind and always a lady, and he is yours always.

Open Muffler Motor Fiend Is Disliked

By G. H. HAMILTON, President of Federation of American Motorcyclists courtesy and gentlemanly conduct, and it is bending every energy in these directions.

The objects of the Federation of American Motorcyclists are to en- courage the use of motorcycles and to promote the general interests of motorcycling; to ascertain, protect and defend the rights of motorcyclists; to facilitate touring; to assist in the good roads movement and to govern and administer the sport of motorcycle racing and other competitions in which motorcycles engage.

We know that as an association we can "promote the general interests of motorcycling" only through law observance, courtesy and a realization of the rights of others. These ends we are striving to attain.

The motorcycle as a vehicle has made a place for itself in pleasure as well as business. It has come to stay. But, if we have our way, it will be respected and hold a dignified as well as a useful position in this motor driven age.

I dislike the open muffler "fiend" cordially—and so does the Federa- tion of American Motorcyclists. I believe there is only one place for speeding and that is on a carefully constructed race track.

There the rider alone takes chances. And through the regulation, restriction and supervision of the Federation of American Motorcyclists these are reduced to a minimum.

Present Order of Society Not Blamed

By W. SMYTHE

In my opinion it is a mistake to at- tribute crimes to "the present order of so- ciety." In what way would education remedy the evil? A man who commits murder in cold blood is a murderer at heart and the only possible benefit he might have derived from thorough education would be cognition of the fact that if he must kill it is safer to do it in a clandestine manner and not on the king's highway.

A bulldog is a bulldog and should not be tantalized. The thoroughbred is not one bit more to be trusted than the vagrant. It runs in the family. The human family consists of every conceivable nature. Two boys born in a good atmosphere and bred amid the best surroundings enter college with two widely differ- ent characteristics and will so leave it, even if you ram education into them at a pound a minute.

A writer asserts that educated people, brought up in a fortunate envi- ronment, do not commit murders which call for capital punishment. If that is true, then we are an uneducated family, for such crimes are executed all around us and by all classes.

The most deplorable fact is that our laws, which apply to all, are not applied to the impetuous collegian as to the dross of the majority.
